

CONTINUE FIGHT ON TUBERCULOSIS

North Carolina Physicians Meet and Discuss Struggle Against White Plague.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
CHARLOTTE, N. C., January 12.—With the opening of the annual session of the North Carolina Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, in the assembly room of the Selwyn Hotel this morning at 10:30 o'clock, a new era was marked in the progress of the fight against the white plague in this State.

During the three sessions papers were presented by the president of the association, Dr. Leroy Dunn, of Asheville; by Dr. T. W. Faison, of "Tubercular Propriety," by Dr. Richard H. Lewis, chairman of the State Board of Health, at Raleigh, on "The State Sanatorium for the Treatment of Tuberculosis"; Dr. William Jones, of High Point, on "Government, State and Municipal, Administrative Control of Tuberculosis," while there was a brief address of welcome by Mayor T. S. Franklin and Dr. J. P. Munroe, president of the North Carolina Medical College. The response to the address of welcome was made by Dr. Charles L. Minor, of Asheville, those on the program for this duty not being present at the opening session.

The keynote and the central idea of the meeting was optimistic, but prevention and education were emphasized as holding the most important place in the discussion of tuberculosis.

JOINT SESSION HELD.

Formal Canvass of Vote Preliminary to the Inauguration.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
RALEIGH, N. C., January 12.—Two separate sessions of the Senate and one of the House, and at noon the joint session of the Senate and House for the formal canvass of the vote on State officers, preliminary to the inaugural ceremonies, were the features of the General Assembly to-day, aside from the overshadowing pageant of the inaugural itself for the induction of Governor Kitchin and other State officers into office.

In the session of the Senate this afternoon at 4 o'clock retiring Lieutenant-Governor Francis Winston formally delivered to Lieutenant-Governor W. C. Newland the gavel he is to wield for the remainder of the session of the Senate as presiding officer.

Senator Britt introduced a bill to put Madison county in the Tenth Congressional District, and Senator Hanks to provide for the fire-proof building for the State Library and Hall of History.

RECEIVES SAD MESSAGE.

About to Have Part in Inauguration, Graham Hears Wife Is Dying.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
RALEIGH, N. C., January 12.—A sad feature of the inaugural ceremonies to-day was a telegram that came to Major W. A. Graham, Commissioner of Agriculture, to the effect that Mrs. Graham, who has been ill for several months, was in a critical condition, and for him to come to her bedside by the first train.

This telegram came before the inaugural ceremony so that he did not appear on the inaugural stand to take the oath of office along with the other State officers. The oath was administered privately by Associate Justice Hoke and Major Graham left on the afternoon train for Charlotte to be with his wife.

INDORSES REYNOLDS.

It Is Stated That State Chairman Adams Has Asked for His Reappointment.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., January 12.—It is stated here to-day upon high authority that Republican State Chairman Adams, upon the suggestion or request of the First Assistant Postmaster-General, has endorsed Postmaster C. A. Reynolds for reappointment to a third term. It is also given out that Congressman-Elect J. M. Morehead, of this district, is supporting Mr. Reynolds, despite the fact that Lawyer J. T. Benbow, an aspirant for the postmastership, is chairman of this congressional district, and directed Mr. Morehead's campaign. Reynolds' present term expires February 9th.

Liquor Sold in Salisbury.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
SALISBURY, N. C., January 12.—A case of unusual interest was tried before Justice D. M. Miller in Salisbury yesterday afternoon, when Frank Harding, Frank Harris, E. H. Gardner, W. I. Gill and Edward Earnhardt, five well known young white men at Granite quarry, were arraigned on the charge of assaulting John Miller, late Saturday night, while en route to his home ten miles from Salisbury. It is charged that Mr. Miller was fired upon by the crowd, and that missing him by the muzzle, which he was driving, was seriously shot with a pistol. In the trial it was testified that Joe Byrd, another well known citizen of the Granite quarry section, who made his escape from the officers, did the shooting, and that he fired from the rear of the wagon driven by Mr. Miller. It is said that Byrd attempted to shoot out a lantern on the wagon, and that the mule was accidentally wounded and will probably die. Byrd is said to have fled to the woods.

In the course of the trial, which attracted much attention, it was stated that the whole crowd was drinking when the shooting was done. It was at this point that the first sworn testimony showing that liquor is being illegally sold in Salisbury was obtained, one of the witnesses testifying that the crowd bought whiskey from a "negro in a back lot in Salisbury."

Robbed a Negro.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
GREENSBORO, N. C., January 12.—While Mr. J. B. Harrison, a native of Ohio, was standing on the corner of South Elm and Lee Streets, three negroes came up behind him and taking forcible possession of him, took him to a secluded spot under the tracks of the A. and Y. Railroad and there robbed him. They first pulled his overcoat over his head, and told him that the least outcry would mean instant death. His purse was taken, containing one $20 bill, two dimes, one two and one $1 bill, also a note for $497, on which $192 was due, payable to J. B. Harrison. Mr. Harrison received no personal injury, and was allowed to go unmolested after being robbed. He is here on a visit to his niece, Mrs. Ed. Smith, of this city.

Plan Has Opposition.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
HIGH POINT, N. C., January 12.—A large crowd assembled to-night at the Anchor Warehouse to talk over the proposed new charter for the city, which will be submitted to the Legislature for ratification. There is some opposition to the new orders of things, and a petition having some signers has been circulated, saying they are against it. The new charter after the Texas municipal plan government.

Temperance Organization Makes Present to Retiring Governor.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
RALEIGH, N. C., January 12.—Just before the mantle of the Governorship of North Carolina passed from Governor Glenn to Governor Kitchin to-day, there transpired in the executive office a significant ceremony, in which the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of North Carolina presented to Governor Glenn a splendid silver service as a token of appreciation for the great work for state prohibition done by him during his administration.

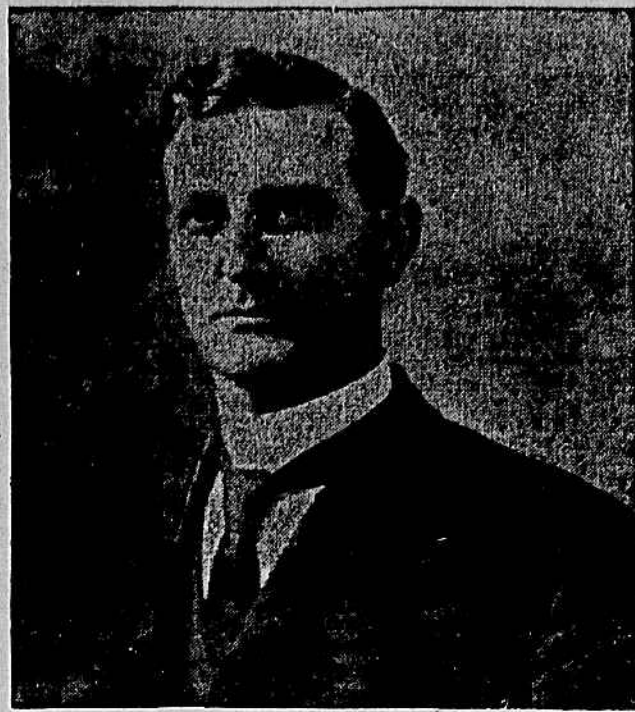

A large company of ladies was present for the ceremony, and the spokesman was Senator Z. V. Long, of Fredell county. In the massive tray is the inscription: "To Governor Robert B. Glenn, from the women of North Carolina, in grateful memory of his valiant fight for the protection of the home of our beloved State, May 28, 1908." The date used is the day the State prohibition election was held.

North Carolina's New Governor

HON. W. W. KITCHIN.

BRILLIANT SCENE AT INAUGURATION

With Inspiring Pageantry Kitchin Is Inducted Into Governor's Office.

GREAT CROWD IS PRESENT

Ceremonies Take Place in Front of Capitol—Chief Justice Clark Administers Oath.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
RALEIGH, N. C., January 12.—It is "Governor" Kitchin now. Never, perhaps, in the history of North Carolina were inauguration day ceremonies surpassed in point of brilliancy, crowds and weather. The day was practically perfect, clear, with just enough crispness in the air to put oxygen in the blood. The streets and buildings had their gala dress on, and the folks were here. The special trains and the regular ones were all crowded this morning, and last night with citizens and soldiers bound Raleighward. The city has been full of the uniformed citizen soldiers all the day except during the parade.

The inauguration proper took place on a great grandstand built for the purpose at the east front of the capitol. The ceremonies began at 1 o'clock. The oath of office was administered by Chief Justice Walter Clark, of the North Carolina Supreme Court, and immediately thereafter Governor Kitchin began his inaugural address. He was in excellent voice and was frequently interrupted by enthusiastic and prolonged applause. The throng was tremendous and inspiring.

Immediately in front of the stand sat the members of the General Assembly, and massed behind and to the sides of them were people from all over the State. The Capitol Square was simply a mass of humanity. Along Newbern Avenue, almost as far as the eye could reach, stood the troops of the National Guard of the State, cadets, civic organizations, school children, fire companies and automobiles.

Parade Passes in Review.
As soon as the address was concluded and those present enough had congratulated the new Governor, he proceeded at once to the reviewing stand, accompanied by the chiefs of the various staff departments and State officers, and the entire parade, military and civic, passed in review. It was a magnificent sight, and the huge crowd applauded to its heart's content. The reviewing stand was the Newbern Avenue entrance to the capitol grounds. From the review the Governor and party went to lunch at the Mansion. The visiting troops were entertained at lunch by the Chamber of Commerce, being in the care of the local military.

To-night two notable social functions closed inauguration day of 1909. Governor Kitchin and Mrs. Kitchin received at the Mansion from 8 until half-past 10, and the great house was thronged, the guests entering at the north door and leaving by the south door. The Governor and Mrs. Kitchin were assisted in the receiving line by the State officers, with their wives, and Brigadier-General J. F. Armfield, commander of the troops here for the occasion.

Inaugural Ball.
After the inaugural reception the ball was danced at the big Pullen Auditorium at the Agricultural and Mechanical College. The ball was given by the Chamber of Commerce. The figures were led by Mr. Albert L. Cox, member of the House of Representatives from Wake, and chairman of the House Committee on Inauguration.

The Governor-elect and his party arrived on their special from Roxboro shortly after 12 o'clock. The members of the subcommittee of the Legislature, who met him at Roxboro and made the entire journey with him to Raleigh, were Senator J. A. Long, of Roxboro, chairman of the Senate committee; Representative A. L. Cox, of Wake, chairman of the House committee; Senators J. S. Manning, of Durham, and H. R. Starbuck, of Winston; Representatives T. J. Murphy, of Greensboro; R. S. Harrison, of Halifax, and J. T. Campbell, of Stanley. The other members of the committee, who joined the party at Durham, were Senator P. B. Means, of Concord; Representative A. S. Rascoe, of Bertie; J. H. Currie, of Cumberland, and R. A. Doughton, of Allegheny.

The Chamber of Commerce reception committee was on hand in large force to greet the arriving Governor-elect and party, and the parade had been waiting for the train since about half-past 11 o'clock. The carriages were filled promptly as follows: First, Governor-Elect Kitchin, Senator J. A. Long, Representative A. L. Cox and Ed. Chambers, Smith, chairman of the reception committee; second, Lieutenant-Governor-Elect Winston, Senator J. A. Long, Representative W. C. Newman, Mayor James J. Johnson, Senator F. S. Manning, Representative R. A. Doughton, third, Senators Means and Starbuck,

Representatives Murphy and Rascoe; fourth, Representatives Campbell, Harrison, Currie and Mr. R. H. Battle; fifth, Messrs. S. Brown Shepherd, B. S. Lerman and T. W. Dobbin, of the Chamber of Commerce committee. The ladies of the party were taken in carriages at once to the Mansion, where they were received by a committee of Raleigh ladies, and joined the official party when it arrived at the Mansion on the way to the Capitol for the ceremonies. The retiring Governor, Robert Brodnax Glenn, and the State officers-elect also joined the party at the Mansion, and all proceeded together to the Capitol.

The Procession Starts.
The huge escort started immediately after the arrival of the train at the Union Station. Chief Marshal Frank Stronach and a numerous line of aids headed the procession; then the Third Regiment Band and the troops under command of Brigadier-General Armfield. Following General Armfield and staff were Colonel J. N. Craig and staff, of the Third Regiment. Colonel Craig was in command of a provisional regiment, composed of three battalions, as follows: First Battalion, Major C. L. McGhee, of Franklinton, commanding—Company F, Franklinton, Third Regiment, Captain J. H. Kearney; Company H, Third, Warrenton, Captain P. J. Mason; Company E, Second, Fayetteville, Captain N. H. McGee; Company E, Third, Oxford, Captain J. R. Wood; Second Battalion, Major J. J. Bernard, of Raleigh, commanding—Company B, Third, Raleigh, Captain W. F. Moody; Company I, Third, Burlington, Captain J. C. Freeman; Company M, Third, Durham, Captain S. C. Chambers; Company D, Third, Lenoir, Captain J. B. Thomas; Third Battalion, Major T. S. Pace, commanding—Company H, Second, Clinton, Captain C. M. Faircloth; Company K, Second, Wilson, Captain E. S. Darden; Company K, Third, Weldon, Captain O. L. Bagley; Company C, Henderson, Captain B. E. Payne.

Under command of Captain Thomas C. Daniels, of Newbern, were the Second and Fourth Divisions of the Naval Brigade, from Newbern and Plymouth. Respectively, the Second commanded by Lieutenant C. J. McSorley, the Fourth by Lieutenant J. L. Phelps.

Next in line were the cadets, the Agricultural and Mechanical College, with their band.

A feature of the parade was the presence of the Wake Forest students. Governor Kitchin being a graduate of this institution.

The city school children and the fire companies both came in for a share of the cheering. The Concord Civilian Band led the civic part of the parade and attracted much notice, as did the band of the Institution for the Blind, composed of blind or partially blind boys.

Inaugural Address.
The inaugural address of Governor Kitchin treats of the obligation of the Democratic party to fulfill its platform pledges as indicated by the people at the polls; recommends a legalized primary law for all parties, the date of the primaries for all parties being fixed by the Legislature; lauds the great progress made by North Carolina in education and appeals for liberal enlargement and maintenance of the public and higher educational institutions under the care of the State, ample provision for the State charitable institutions and asylums, and an increase in pensions for Confederate veterans, so far as the State's financial status will warrant.

There is a recommendation for the best possible child labor regulation, the ground being taken that under present conditions there are many children who are obliged to work, and the thing to do is to enforce the present laws and see that sanitary environments for those working in factories are the best possible. He recommends regulation of construction of factories for safeguarding the health of all laborers employed therein. He recommends a definite movement for highway improvement by the State and some experimental movement, at least, toward drainage of swamp lands.

Most children eat too much, overtax the digestion, get thin, weak, languid, stop growing—that's malnutrition or non-digestion of food.

Scott's Emulsion

has helped countless thousands in this condition. It is both nourishment and medicine—a most powerful aid to digestion.

A small dose three times a day will work wonders, but be sure to get Scott's.

JAMES TRAVER.

MANY PAY HONOR TO NONAGENARIAN

James Traver Has Distinction of Being Oldest Citizen of South Boston.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
SOUTH BOSTON, VA., January 12.—Mr. James Traver, of this place, was ninety years of age Saturday, and in honor of the event a "floating reception" was given him at the home of Mrs. Carrie V. Clarke, on Main Street, from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock in the evening, at which time his numerous friends called and wished him "many happy returns."

Delicious refreshments were served. The decorations of green, white and red were beautifully carried out, while hyacinths, narcissus and carnations lent much fragrance and beauty to the scene. Around the birthday cake ninety candles, of various sizes, sent out their radiant glow, while the dates of 1819 and 1909 stood out prominently, and marked the birth and told the age of the oldest man in South Boston, and perhaps the oldest anywhere in this section.

Before the guest of honor departed the Bible was read by Rev. C. W. Maxwell, of the Presbyterian Church, and prayer was offered by Dr. Hanson, of the Methodist Church, the evening closing with the hymn, "How Firm a Foundation."

Mr. James Traver was born at Sandlake, Rensselaer county, N. Y., January 3, 1819. He moved to this county from Fredericksburg, Va., in August, 1855, having at that time contracted for the erection of the wagon bridge which has from that time to this spanned the river Dan at this place. For more than fifty years Mr. Traver was the contractor for nearly all of the larger bridges across the streams of this and the adjoining counties. Not only has he built a number of bridges, but has also erected many of the residences and other buildings here and in other portions of the county.

Mr. Traver has been married twice. His first wife was Miss Chamberlain, in 1843, and by that marriage there were three children—two daughters, Mrs. E. H. Vaughan and Mrs. Luther Reeves, and one son, Mr. J. W. Traver, who alone survives, and now lives in Clarkburg, W. Va. His second marriage was to Miss Virginia Clarke, sister to the late Dr. A. Trent Clarke, and they now reside on East End Avenue.

Coleman a Candidate.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
SPOTSYLVANIA, VA., January 12.—C. Richelieu Coleman, chairman of the Democratic executive committee of the county, is a candidate for House of Delegates from Spotsylvania and Fredericksburg. Mr. Coleman is a son of the late Hon. Solon T. Coleman, who was a prominent citizen for many years in the county.

German at University.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
CHARLOTTE, N. C., January 12.—The cold, which arrived to-night made the Christmas german of the University German Club a seasonable event. While the attendance was not so large as on former occasions, the german was none the less enjoyable. The Fawcett Gymnasium was prettily decorated throughout.

Many pretty and intricate figures were introduced by the leader, Merritt Todd Cooke, Jr., of Norfolk, who coached the variety football eleven the past season, and who is now taking a post-graduate course in engineering. Dandies was begun at 9 o'clock, and kept up until after midnight, with an intermission for refreshments. Debutantes from most of the cities of the State were present, together with a number of alumni.

Injured While Hunting.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
FREDERICKSBURG, VA., January 12.—Thomas Finney, of Spotsylvania county, while hunting Monday had his finger blown off at the second joint by the accidental discharge of his gun. Other fingers were also lacerated. Mr. Finney was brought to this city for treatment.

COFFEE knocked Dorando out twice, once in London at the Marathon race and again in New York. Read the Doctor's reports:

From the New York World, Dec. 16, 1908.

DORANDO'S HEART IN BAD SHAPE AFTER RACE, SAYS DOCTOR

By Dr. Jos. Creamer.

"I examined Dorando immediately after he was carried from the track. His heart was in bad shape, and he was in a state of total collapse. In my opinion, the condition of his heart was due partly to overstimulation. His handlers gave him stuff from a bottle which they said was coffee. Even coffee taken in such quantities would be likely to affect his stomach and cause his collapse. There wasn't a bruise on him to show that the fall did any damage."

It has been a part of our mission to explain to people that the drug, caffeine, in coffee seriously affects the stomach, heart and nerves of some people (a good many).

If you want health and the power to do things and to win in the race for any kind of supremacy you better trim off the handicaps—and coffee is one.

It is joy of the keenest sort to be entirely well.

Try it. Quit coffee 10 days and use well-made POSTUM, which goes straightaway to work rebuilding broken-down nerve centres.
